MAGNETIC INSPECTION LABORATORY, INC.

DATE: 3/17/2020

TO: Our Valued Stakeholders

SUBJECT: Coronavirus Impact to MIL Operations

MIL understands that it plays a critical role in the supply chain for many companies in the aerospace, defense, and medical industries. While the Coronavirus (COVID-19) is spreading across the country, MIL is continuing business operations to meet customer needs in order to serve and protect the nation. Currently, MIL is following the situation closely with the below changes made to ensure the health and safety of all stakeholders.

- MIL employees will not be participating in business related travel
- Outside visitors will not be permitted onsite, unless related to an emergency
- MIL's 'Will Call' area will be a restricted area and customers will not be allowed to access carts or product without assistance
- Additional disinfecting of common areas and elevated sanitizing procedures have been implemented across all facilities
- MIL has assembled a Coronavirus Response Team to proactively mitigate the risks of COVID-19

MIL will continue to follow this situation and act on, if not exceed directions provided by local, state and federal government, as well as guidance from the Center for Disease Control (CDC) and World Health Organization (WHO). For now, the organization plans to remain operational with the above restrictions/changes.

MIL will continue to practice the recommended precautions and prepare for any scenarios that may arise. As a trusted service provider, MIL will relay any impact on production or closures as proactively as possible. If you have questions or concerns, please reach out to our main line (847-437-4488) and an available representative will be glad to answer those inquiries.

Sincerely,

Coronavirus Response Team and MIL Management
